Purpose

The purpose of this seminar is to provide participants with an in-depth understanding of the regulatory requirements and professional standards governing audit and assurance engagements, both statutory and non-statutory. It aims to expand participants' knowledge and competencies in conducting a wide range of assurance services, including audits of complex financial areas, reporting on KPIs, business plans, prospective financial information, sustainability reporting, and forensic investigations. By addressing evolving international standards and current issues in the profession, the seminar supports the delivery of high-quality assurance services aligned with global best practices.

Training Objectives

The seminar aims to enhance participants' knowledge of audit and assurance by enabling them to define and understand core concepts such as fraud, error, ethics, and regulatory frameworks. It will equip them with practical skills to plan and execute assurance engagements, assess risks, design audit procedures, implement quality control measures, and issue appropriate assurance opinions. Additionally, it seeks to develop professional attitudes such as effective communication, leadership, ethical judgement, and professional skepticism. Emphasis will be placed on real-world application, particularly in complex areas, to ensure participants are well-prepared for high-stakes and evolving professional environments.

Methodology

The seminar will take place using the method of live online learning through the Microsoft Teams platform. During the seminar, various interactive techniques will be used, such as lecture, presentation, questions - answers, discussion, group work, practical exercises.

Candidates

This seminar is intended for a wide range of professionals engaged in audit, assurance, risk management, and compliance across both the public and private sectors. Ideal candidates include external and internal auditors, accountants, compliance officers, risk management professionals, financial controllers, and staff from regulatory bodies and oversight authorities. It is particularly suitable for professionals who already possess a working knowledge of audit and assurance practices and are seeking to deepen their expertise, broaden the scope of services offered, and stay updated with recent developments and expectations in the profession.

The program has been approved by the Human Resource Development Authority (HRDA). Businesses/organizations that participate in it with their employees, as well as unemployed individuals, will receive the relevant subsidy, provided that they meet the HRDA's requirements.
